BROOMSTICK IN BRIGHTON DERBY. Conqueror of Irish Lad Will Have Further Test.
REPUBLIC SPECIAL.
New York, July 11.—The $10,000 Brighton

Derby will afford a further test of the caliber of Broomstock, for to-day Trainer Bob Tucker announced his intention of taking up the "Little Bulldog" with that great mile and haif race in mind.

Then there is the rich Iroquois, too, in which the Brighton Handicap winner is almost a sure starter. Broomstick received a light gallop to-day, and will rest through to-morrow.

Then Tucker will start in on him, and by the time he is called to the post for the Derby, July 23, he will be just as good a horse as when he outran Irish Lad through the final sixteenth of the toughest stretch fight ever waged in this country. taking up the "Little Bulldog" with that Bout-Substitute Is Put On. Bout-Substitute Is Put On.

Claiming that there was not enough money in the house to justify him in fighting twenty rounds, Jack Tracy would not go on with Julius Klein at the Business Men's Gymnasium last night. Instead, Bob Douglass and Klein gave a fourround exhibition.

What was announced as the main event was a six-round bout between "Dummy" Schenck and Joey Yanger. They put up six fast rounds of fighting, with the former doing most of the leading and landing, while Yanger did the majority of the blocking.

Calls Off Chicago Fights. Chicago, July 11.—Mayor Harrison to-day de-clared that price fights of every sort, including contests under the guise of "glove contests," must cesse in Chicago. He summoned Chief of Police O'Nell and gave strict orders that the mandate he enforced. Numerous exhibitions already stranged have been called off.

General Racing Notes.

Although crowds at the local tace courses have been somewhat nervous over violent storms ever since the cyclone struck the Fair Grounds in 1896, wind and rain of yesterday had little effect on the patrons of the cld course. Save in those paris of the stand which were exposed to the driving rain, there was no sign of any alarm on the part of the patrons.

Insamuch as the grounds were filled and nearly all the seats in the stand taken, the driving sheets of rain forced many to go to the lower floor in the progress of the storm. The books on the south side of the betting ring were moved up into the ting for several yards to get them out of the rain, and there was some little delay between the second and third races.

As soon as the downpour moderated the bell. General Racing Notes.

to get them out of the rain, and there was some little delay between the second and third races.

As soon as the downpour moderated the bell was rung, calling the field to the post for the third race, and the programme was run off as usual. Speculation was just as brick after the storm as before it, and the sudden deluge seemed to have no effect on the game. The rain commenced falling shortly after the second race had been run. The jockeys were weighing in when the first gust of wind, sent the dust in clouds down the stretch, and immediately thereafter sheets of lightning and a perfect flood of water followed. The manner in which the fockeys and stable hands sprinted for shelter toward the maddock caused general anusement in the stand.

Easter Welters, who ran third in the second race vesterday, was ridden by a youngster known as Sam Seders, who is making his first appearance in the saddle locally. Seders did well for a beginner, and seems to be rather a promising boy. He is under the charge of W. H. Fizer and can make a light weight in the saddle.

Another youngster who performed rather creditably was Vanderbout, who not up a nice Thene won the most impressive victory of the day, the track suiting him to a nicety. He had a lead of fitteen lengths inside of the first quarter, and at one stage was close to 100 yards shead of his field. He was eased up in the stretch and simply gailoped home. Gaslighter managed to pass Elle in the stretch run and got second money.
